TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

Ms.Odu Esther Emalo has been a student at NIHSS from February 2011 to December 2013; whereby she followed a Diploma in General Nursing. Prior to joining the nursing course she completed two years Advance Level Studies. She constantly performed well above average thus yielding excellent results in all the different modules of the nursing program.

She generally demonstrated maturity in her training, with a very good sense of responsibility and autonomy both in academic and practical settings. She understands the concept of self appraisal and is able to evaluate her abilities and limitations. She constantly demonstrated ability to adapt and cope with the demands of different work situations as required in the nursing profession.

She is a sociable, matured young woman with a very good character. She demonstrated honesty, reliability and leadership qualities which should be further nurtured. She contributed positively to the school life by participating in organized activities. She has the potential for further development in her chosen profession.

It was a pleasure to have had Ms Odu on the nursing course. I am pleased to endorse her as a future nurse with the capability of delivering high quality nursing services. Surely she will be a good asset to the nursing profession.
